

298-290 BC

Third Samnite War

298-290 BC

Third Samnite War

War of Rome with Etruscans and Gauls tempted the Samnites, strengthened by league with LUCANIANS to open hostilities

Battle of SENTINUM

Q. FABIUS RULLIANUS and P. Decius MUS
are victorious. Pontius lost

Romans became supreme power
in Italy

298 → 290 BC

DURANT

Third Samnite War

298-290 BC

THIRD SAMNITE WAR

Rome

- (a) Cause - Union of the States of Central Italy, headed by the Samnites against the power of Rome
- (b) Battle: Battle of SENTINUM (295 BC)
Romans victorious
- (c) Result -
 1. Peace was concluded under CURIUS DENTATUS
 2. Rome controlled northern and

Central Italy

3. Two Roman Colonies : MINTURNAE and SINUESA were established
4. Sabines were made subjects of Rome

298-7290 BC

1912 Dates J-BK

Their Samnites war

The help of the neighboring tribes aided the Samnites nothing and they were completely overthrown in the battle of Sentinum (295 BC).

This ended the struggle and gave the whole peninsula into the hands of the Romans. The Samnites, an ancient family, a branch of the Sabines, became income of the donors when the city was founded.

298 BC.

Battle of CAMERINUM (3rd Samnite War)

Six yrs after conceding defeat in the 2nd Samnite War, Samnium made a last effort to avert the growing power of Rome. The Lucanians, Etruscans, and Gauls joined the Samnites to form a hostile ring around Rome and its new possession of Campania.

The war started suspiciously for the anti-Rome coalition. Two Roman legions commanded by LUCIUS SCIPIO were sent to CAMERINUM, 90 miles northwest of Rome, to hold a pass in the Apennines through which the Gauls were expected to advance. Here in 298 BC, SCIPIO was attacked by a combined force of Gauls

and Samnite leader GELLIOS EQUATIOS.
The Roman army was badly defeated, one of the legions (about 4,200 men) being cut to pieces.

c 298 BC born

212 BC died

Archimedes - greatest mathematician of Ancient Time. A native of Syracuse, Sicily, he was killed during its capture by the Romans in the Second Punic War.

298BC

to 290BC

Third Samnite (and Etruscan)

War

298-290 BC

Samnite War for 3rd time

Senturium 295BC

298BC

Lucius Cornelius Scipio, son of Snaeus was Consul

298-290 B.C.

Third Samnite War.

Rome now established ascendancy

298-290 BC.

THIRD SAMNITE WAR

- (a) Cause - Union of the States of Central Italy, headed by the SAMNITES against the power of Rome
- (b) BATTLE - SENTINUM, 295 BC Romans victorious
- (c) RESULT
 - 1) Peace concluded under CURIUS DENTATUS

- 2) Rome controlled northern and central Italy
- 3) Two Roman Colonies, MIN TURNAE and SINUESA, were established
- 4) Sabines were made subjects of Rome

298-290 BC

1912 Dates J-BK

Rome

Third Samnite War

298 BC

Bindusara succeeds
Chandragupta.

298 BC

Third Samnite (and Etruscan)
War (to 290 BC)

298-290 BC

3rd Samnite War; The
Etruscans are subjected to Rome.
295 BC